Project Title: Tama Website

Designer/Developer: Alec O'Brien

General notes
- I like how it looks so far! It's easy to navigate and find information
- Nice pictures used
- Colors have good contrast

Notes for finalizing
- Type
    - I think it would be nice to have another font for headings, maybe. Google Fonts is really easy to set up!
    - For the successors' names, you could make them <h3> or <h4> so that they stand out more

- Menu/navigation
    - I like the menu concept so far! Maybe when you hover over those links the background color can change
    - 'Back to top' link may be useful at the bottom of the page ( should work)
    - There's a lot of space between the overview section and the menu, maybe try to close that up a little
    - On a screen size, the right page margin seems a little small–that could be pushed up a bit for bigger screens, at least

- Images
    - I like the consistent width of the images! Perhaps you could try combining them in one single long blue div (at least appearing to be so)
    - Not sure if white text on the blue would be too much contrast, but just pick a color that works well for captions

Looks great so far! Thanks again!
